

STARVING MAYOR IN STATE OF COLLAPSE TODAY

SOCIALIST ADDRESS, FORBIDDEN BY MAYOR, GIVEN IN LOCAL HALL

Article in Socialist Organ Aroused Ire of the Executive.

Irwin St. John Tucker, Socialist speaker, did not deliver his address in Haymarket square yesterday afternoon as arranged, due to the fact that city officials refused to allow the meeting to proceed. Instead the speaker, who came to Dixon under the auspices of the Socialist club, delivered his address in their hall.

The speaker was notified to report at the city hall before beginning his remarks, where he was informed by Mayor Smith that the meeting in the park would not be allowed. The mayor explained as his reason for stopping the meeting, an article that appeared in the Socialist national organ, The New Day, recently, in which it was stated that the city officials of Dixon welcomed the Socialist club and their speakers and permitted their holding their meetings in Haymarket square. The article inferred that the members of the city council were repentant in their mood and instead of stopping street meetings addressed by Socialist speakers, had set aside the public park as a place for holding these meetings. Another article in a recent issue of the national organ placed the population of Dixon at 5,000 when it claimed the city as one of the leading circulation centers in the country for this paper.

St. John Tucker tried to explain to the mayor that he was not responsible for the article in The New Day, setting forth that it may have been a mistake made by the editor of the organ, who misinterpreted correspondence which may have been sent in from this city. Explanations had no effect on Mayor Smith's decision, however, and the meeting was held in the Socialist's hall.

Long "Vacation" of Yardmen Over

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Railroad managers today were prepared for the return to work of striking switchmen, yardmen and engineers in the Chicago switching district, following the men's vote last night to go back to their jobs after being on a "vacation" since last March. The movement back to work, these officials believe, will be nationwide.

The Chicago strikers, who were estimated to number 8,000 will return without the granting of their demands for restoration of seniority rights. Railroad managers refused to consider their demand, pointing out that they could not do so without coming in conflict with the railroad brotherhoods, which had sought to keep their membership at work.

The vote to return to work, rail officials said, was preceded by many applications from strikers, for their old jobs. The men were told they said, that many of the strikers would be taken back and given every opportunity to work themselves into good places. Others, officials said, never would be taken back.

GRUNAU IN DENIAL.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—John Grunau, president of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, one of the unions which called the switchmen's strike April 1, today denied widely circulated reports that the strike had been called off.

Strikers in other centers to even take a vote on ending the strike, Mr. Grunau said, while the men in the Chicago district voted 21,974 to 21,304 to remain out.

Democrats Name Tickets Wednesday

The Democrats of Lee county will have a ticket in the field at Wednesday's primary, with a complete list of candidates for the various offices, it was announced today. Considerable secrecy seems to prevail however, as the names of the probable candidates are not being made public.

A well known Dixon democrat, prominent throughout the county and state, stated today: "We will have a ticket in the field with candidates for all of the offices. We will have a solid nominee for the office of circuit clerk and may decide to put a woman on the ticket. The Democrats have a state ticket in the field and a full county ticket will be presented."

HERE TO SEE BROTHER.

Roger Kelley of 210 Keester avenue Chicago, is here visiting his brother, Peter Kelley, who is ill at the Dixon hospital. The Chicago man was a resident of Dixon many years ago and is remembered by the older citizens.

SEND ELECTION RETURNS IN

There will be great public interest in the returns from the primary election Wednesday and the election officials in every precinct in Lee county are requested to telephone the complete returns to the Evening Telegraph office, Dixon, Phone No. 5.

It is requested that in the return the men's and women's totals be kept separate.

Boy's Story Given Credence After He Has Been Wounded

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Carlinville, Ill., Sept. 13.—Derision with which the wild west story of robbers told by Robert McCurdy of Bunker Hill, was howled down Saturday, was today turned to a awe that the sheriff's force here searched for the vengeful robber who last night shot him through the stomach. Robert is a young high school pupil.

According to his story, told the sheriff Saturday, the robbers acknowledged he had "already shot two of their brothers," and begged him to permit their escape. Immediately after one of the gang shot at him. He ran to the house for a gun, and returning saw them dragging into a waiting automobile the body of a "dead man." Last night while walking near his home, McCurdy was accosted by two men in an automobile. They turned their lights full on him and fired. His condition, at Litchfield hospital is very serious. The bullet entered his stomach. This development, the sheriff says, leaves no room for doubt that McCurdy's story is substantially true. It further complicates the mysterious attempts on the McCurdy household. The occupants of the house are Miss Malissa McCurdy and her two nephews, Robert and his brother.

PLOW CO. TEAM WON CHAMPIONSHIP TITLE CASE THRESHING CO.

Defeated Racine 1 to 0 in Deciding Game at Racine Saturday.

The Case Threshing Machine company's crack baseball team went down in defeat Saturday afternoon on their home grounds at Racine, the Grand Detour Plow branch team from this city defeating them by a score of 1 to 0. In winning this game, the Dixon team became champions for the season, defeating the threshing machine makers two out of a series of three that they have not been given sufficient opportunity to show their ability and are asking that the season be prolonged and the series made to consist of five instead of three games as was originally understood.

Glenn did the pitching for Grand Detour and let the Racine swatters down with but a single hit. His stellar pitching was awarded stonewall support and the Racine batters were unable to place them safely. The single score came in the seventh frame. Larkins had been retired on an infield out and Green singling before him, was advanced to second. Whitehead poled a single, sending Green to third. Lightner sent a hot grounder to short, who tried for a double play, catching Whitehead at second but threw wild to first, Green scoring.

In the same inning, the Racine players tried to tie the count. Second and third bases were occupied with two men out and Captain Dick tried to steal home as Glenn was winding up, but was caught.

The Grand Detour team has played excellent ball this season as is shown by their record. Out of 15 games played they have lost but two.

LEE CO. BAR IS FOR BRUNDAGE'S RE-ELECTION WED.

Twenty-seven Lawyers of County Endorse His Record.

Republican members of the Lee County bar are strongly advocating that the Republican voters of Lee County support the candidacy of Edward J. Brundage, who is seeking re-nomination as the party candidate for Attorney General at the primary on Wednesday, according to an announcement made today of action recently taken by the attorneys of our county.

27 Endorse Him

The endorsement, signed by twenty-seven Republican lawyers, is undoubtedly the greatest compliment ever given by the Lee County members of the legal profession to a candidate for a state office, and it is conclusive evidence that the members of the profession, who have frequent occasion to deal with the office, want a continuation of the generally recognized efficient business and professional conduct of the Attorney General's office under the direction of Mr. Brundage.

The endorsement, which has been signed generally by attorneys throughout the state and also by over 3500 Chicago attorneys, is as follows:

"We, the undersigned, members of the Lee County Bar, appreciating his high qualifications as a citizen, a lawyer and a public official, his splendid record as the chief law officer of our state and his eminent fitness for that position, do hereby heartily endorse the candidacy of Edward J. Brundage for re-election as Attorney General of Illinois."

Candidates All Sign

The State's Attorneys of Illinois are frequently required, in the performance of their duties, to transact official business with the Attorney General, who is their superior officer, and it is a very significant fact that all six of the Lee County aspirants for state's attorney, Grover W. Gehant, James R. Kelly, Robert L. Warner, Mark C. Keller, Edward E. Wingert and Martin J. Gannon, have joined in the endorsement of their prospective chief law officer, and because of the high character of these candidates their solid support of Mr. Brundage is considered a great compliment.

FAMILY APPEALS TO LONDON EMBASSIES TO AID HUNGER STRIKER

Thirty-second Day of His Fast Finds MacSwiney Sinking Fast.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

London, Sept. 13.—Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, was in a state of collapse and exhaustion this morning at Brighton prison where he is continuing his hunger strike. This is the thirty-second day of his fast. MacSwiney passed a bad and restless night, according to a bulletin issued early today by the Irish Self-Determination League.

Rumors that Irish hunger strikers in jail in the city of Cork are being fed surreptitiously are denied in a Dublin dispatch to the Daily Mail, which declares the only nourishment they are receiving is from oil with which they are rubbed to alleviate the pain due to wasting tissues. The deaths of more strikers may be expected at any time, the dispatch says.

Mrs. MacSwiney, wife of the Lord Mayor, together with his sisters, Mary and Annie, and his brother Sean, have addressed an appeal to the American ambassadors and the heads of the other embassies and legations in London for submission to their governments. It calls attention to the case of the Lord Mayor and that of the eleven hunger strikers at Cork and expresses the hope that the united councils of the nations addressed "will prevent the tragedy now pending and thereby calm the peoples of the world."

The Letter Deals Fully with Mayor

MacSwiney's case from the date of his arrest to the present time, and says: "Lord Mayor MacSwiney was murdered for the same reason for which Lord Mayor MacSwiney is being murdered now—because he was fighting for self-determination for his country."

"We are of the opinion that this is of grave concern for all governments. Owing to the very close relations existing between modern nations, a government outrage in one country reacts in another."

OTHERS STILL ALIVE.

Cork, Sept. 13.—(By Associated Press.)—The 11 hunger strikers in the Cork jail were still alive today, but all of them materially weaker. Two of the striking prisoners, Burke and Kenny collapsed during the night, and their condition is causing especial anxiety. Sean Hennessy, the 19-year-old youth whose condition has been grave for several days, remains in a comatose state and in his semi-conscious moments he is refusing to take the customary quantity of water. During last night he accepted only two sips.

It was learned today that both the government physicians had received death threats.

GOWN SHOWS PRIMITIVE INFLUENCE

BY CORA MOORE

New York's Fashion Authority

Mrs. Katherine Paine has already started, promises to lead to all sorts of strange effects. At a recent fashion show the "primitive" influence was very marked. Here is one of the gowns. It is black suede cloth, made in one piece with the opening at the side and the foot-hem cut in four scallops. Traced on the front in fine silver beads are strange figures and devices after the manner of ancient Egypt. Hieroglyphics down the side and more tracery on the oddly cut sleeves complete the gown, though the divetyn hat with its towering glycerined ostrich, the knitted "misers purse" and the animal scarf all tend to emphasize the aforesaid "primitive" effect.

White silk stockings that have become yellowed by many washings during the summer will serve best if dyed and used with dark winter shoes.

Silk is very apt to break if put away until the next season. Low shoes demand hosiery intact but one can wear a stocking with a railroad sewed up under high shoes.

There are many dyeing agents on the market, all quite good. The one choice seems to be in the way of using the dyes.

BREAKFAST—Baked pears, cream-dried beef, baking powder biscuits, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Macaroni loaf, steamed brown bread, sliced peaches, cup cakes, tea.

DINNER—Cream of corn soup, broiled lamb chops, baked tomatoes, scalloped potatoes, apple sauce and ginger bread, coffee.

Butter.

Wash pears and cut in halves if the pears are large. Remove core. Put in a deep, buttered making dish. Sprinkle with sugar put a few drops of lemon juice in each cavity, dot with butter. Put a little water in the bottom of the dish to keep pears from burning. Cover and bake two or three hours in a slow oven.

1/4 cup macaroni.
3/4 cup bread crumbs.

1 cup milk.

1 tablespoon minced parsley

HOW WILL THIS DO?

Try This Burglar Alarm on Your Auto.

Of all devices invented to thwart auto thieves, not one can claim absolute protection. Keys, locks, rim spikes and the countless other contrivances have been tried, and the auto burglar has found a way to ply his trade in spite of them all.

Well, here's the latest, and one that is guaranteed by its inventor to prevent theft. It does not lock your ignition, nor the gear shift lever, nor the steering wheel, nor any other part of the car. In fact, every part can be left open and ready for immediate use.

But as soon as the car is started, it officially, an alarm goes off and the burglar hasn't far to go before he's caught. The police can be let in on the secret, and any cop hearing that alarm can know the machine is being stolen.

The device consists of a gong hidden away in some inaccessible place, beneath the engine or the hoodboard for instance, wires leading from that to a separate battery and switch. The main idea is to hide the gong and switch so the thief can't get at them. The switch can be hidden underneath a rear seat, or in a side pocket, and the wires leading to the battery and gong hidden in the same way.

Once the car is parked, all the owner has to do is turn on the switch and quit worrying about possible theft. But do not forget to turn off the switch before starting, or you'll find yourself explaining it to the judge.

MAKE NO MISTAKE

When the Republican man or woman voter goes to the polls Wednesday he or she should be careful to make no mistake in marking the ballot. If you ask for a Republican ballot you will be given a long ticket with many names on it. In another part of this paper you will find reproduced complete facsimile copies of all the ballots. Study your ballot over and know who to vote for and how to vote. In front of each name is a square. With the pencil that is furnished you, place a cross in the square opposite the man you want to vote for. In some instances you will be expected to vote for more than one man for an office, where more than one are to be elected. You must study the instructions on the ballot closely. If your ballot is improperly marked it will be thrown

BRINGING UP FATHER.

BY GEORGE McMANUS

"I ought to have known better than to have mixed in. Daddy had to be Mr. Fixit in the end. All I have to show for my honest endeavor is a horrid row with Bob. I ought to have clung to that new theory about sacrifice. It never does anybody any good, according to the new cult. When we follow our own inclinations honestly, we proceed in the best way for all concerned. By mixing in, I am now in a far worse state than that which threatened Ann. And I have a lot more to lose, I guess."
Yet there was one compensation. I was learning a good deal about my husband's mental processes. At least that is what I told myself.
Bob, finding a man friend in a distressing situation, would have marched up to him, would have accepted his friend's version gladly, and would have extended a strong helping hand. But Bob finding his wife in an awkward predicament, closed all doors of communication, without his support and camouflaged his interest.
Bob was treating me cruelly. The hurt of this knowledge was becoming unendurable.
How it was all to end, who was going to take the first step toward a reconciliation, I hadn't an idea.

out by the judges when they count them and your vote will be lost.

The Telegraph makes no recommendations regarding the candidates running for county and representative. There are a number of good men opposing each other for these offices and the voters know most of them and therefore are able to judge their fitness.

We do urge united support among Lee County Republicans for the down state anti-Tammany ticket, and herewith present a list of the candidates for state offices, opposite whose names you should place your cross. Cut this list out and take it to the polls with you on Wednesday.

HOW WILL YOUR VOTE COUNT?

Assuming that you are going to fulfill your duty as a citizen on Wednesday by going into your party primary, on which side will your vote be counted.

The men and women of this county who will vote in the Republican primary certainly have well defined issues before them in Wednesday's election. They may choose the Lowden ticket, headed by Governor Oglesby and vote for good clean government and an economical and business like administration, or they can choose the Thompson-Tammany ticket, headed by Len Small, and have, either a Democratic victory or a government condition in Illinois that will shame us. Take your choice.

SAVE HOUSES

One way the authorities in every city can help keep the housing problem from becoming worse is to inaugurate rigid campaigns to wipe out fire hazards. Every year thousands of houses are destroyed by fire, and while this was always a great loss to the country, it didn't matter so much when houses were plentiful.

Every time a house burns, the situation becomes just that much more acute. And right now most property is under-insured. Houses are worth twice as much as they were in 1914-16, and very few insurance policies have been increased. It is no longer possible to replace a house with the insurance collected.

Fall is about here and when fires are started to heat homes, there will be the usual crop of destructive fires, unless every chimney is inspected and put in order. All loose trash should be done away with and every hazard removed. If there ever was a time that such conservation was needed, it is now.

THE BOOK OF ANN.

DADDY, HOWEVER, PROVES TO BE MR. FIXIT IN THE END.

Dear Daddy Lorimer helped me shorten that bitter day for me. He came over to my house in the morning with a bit of important news:

"Say, girly, want to get into the decorating game?" he chuckled.

I shook my head soberly, emphatically. I never again wanted to think of anything which suggested Claude lives.

Daddy paid no attention to my indifference.

"I've got a wall paper store to give away to somebody," he continued. "Pretty paper, too, and candlesticks—and some cushions—and things. Sure, Jane. That's straight. Now can't you think of anybody who'll make a good manager for the place?"

"I don't get you, daddy!" I said (Daddy likes to hear me talk slang.)

"I've bought that damn rascal's shop, my dear. I went to him myself—wanted him to know I meant business—and I suggested to Mr. Jacob Smart that the folks back in Ashton, Arkansas probably wanted to see him. At any rate, I'll take his shop—at his own figure—if he'd get out of town and stay out. By ginger, the bird took me up at what I call a decent valuation. He says high wages have hit his rie under his arm. "Here's a truant, Mr. Scribble Scratch," he called. "Found him up in the maple-tree."

And Orrie had to say his Friday piece 70 times backward instead of seven.

business hard. He's glad to stop. My lawyers are making out the papers today. Tomorrow I'll need a new head. Who's it to be, Jane?"

"I know daddy! The very one! Mrs. Best! Ann's mother doesn't want to remain in the movies. She does want to be independent. She was an arts and crafts teacher before she was married. And this is just the most fortunate thing for her. And for all of us. Now she can take care of Ann!" I stopped because I was out of breath.

"Hooray, girly! You've hit it again! Can't beat you for ideas! I'll wire Mrs. Best this minute!" With that, Daddy stepped to the phone and the invitation went off to Mrs. Best at once.

"So here endeth the history of Jacob Smart," I said with a sigh of relief.

"The Lord knows I hope so," said daddy. "I didn't like to manage it this way. Seems as if I had done the chap a big favor. But there wasn't any other way which would work so fast. I guess you get me?"

"I guess I do, old dear!" Daddy loves to be called that, but it was probably not the reason he wiped away a few tears before he left me. I fairly hated Ann for causing him so much worry. He adores Jim, Jr. Never before had he let any one perceive how he feared for his son's happiness.

After daddy had gone, I realized that most of the family had had a share in saving Ann from her own folly. She had survived without wasting a single brain cell, but daddy was the worse for a lot of anxiety and my own affairs were at sixes and sevens on account of her.

"Maybe I deserve it all," thought I.

FORMER DIXON SCHOOL TEACHER WRITES INTERESTINGLY OF HER LIFE IN CHINA WHERE SHE STUDIES TO ENTER Y. W. C. A.

Miss Erma Forbes Draws Vivid Word Picture of Oriental Customs and Life Among the Inhabitants of Ancient China.

Erma A. Forbes, who was formerly a teacher in the North Dixon schools and who is now in China, studying to become a member of the Y. W. C. A. corps in that country, writes to her friends of her life there. Miss Forbes writes from the North China Union Language School and her most interesting letter reads:

May 24th, 1920

Dear Friends:

May I ask you to kindly excuse this form of a letter, for I find it to be the only kind with which I can be sure of reaching all of my one hundred and ten correspondents. Please accept it as personal, for I assure you that I have you each in mind as I write, and if I dared take the time from my work and study, nothing would make me happier than to write a real letter to each of you. I do want to thank those of you who have been writing regularly, regardless of the fact that I have not been able to answer your letters. You can never know what a real service you are doing by this unusual surroundings. A land in which it is necessary for you to expend every bit of energy you possess to get readjusted. A land where mail comes, not three times a day, but once in two weeks at the best, and often we have waited three or four weeks. Maybe you can realize a little of the importance of HOME MAIL, if I tell you that the papers announce in headlines the approach of mail, and if anyone in our court receives a box, we all rush in and help open it and share its joys. Such are red letter days. But, after a bunch of letters have come in, a slight regret follows, for I long to answer each one immediately and cannot. To those of you who seem to understand this condition, and who write regularly not waiting for answers, I thank you; you, too, are doing a real service for China.

As many of you know, I was appointed to the Peking Language School for my first year. This school is a rapidly growing institution. Our last census shows us to have an enrollment of two hundred and twenty students and a faculty of slightly under one hundred men. These men speak no English, but use the direct method in teaching us. We study the Language all day long, and let me inform you that it is no dainty undertaking, this attempt to acquire the Chinese language. You see in the Mandarin there are four tones, you may say a word correctly except for tone and thus give it four absolutely different meanings. For example you may attempt to tell the dining room boy that you wish for cereal by using the wrong tone (which by the way, are so nearly alike that at first one can scarcely detect any difference) you would ask for wine. A true story is told of a Sunday School teacher, who was telling her class of small boys about David killing the lion. She was surprised and disappointed to see that it made no great impression than it did. Soon a small boy spoke up saying, "That's nothing, I've killed lots of them myself." She realized then that she had spoken wrongly, and had given the boys the impression that David was killing fleas not lions—Chinese is fearfully made.

The climate here is very different here from the old U. S. A. The sun is extremely powerful, so much so that even now we have to wear pith hats, and dark glasses in most cases, in order to prevent a severe stroke. In the middle of the summer it is said that foreigners must be extremely careful about being in the sun at all between twelve and four. Thus far the nights have been very pleasant, even though the midday sun was terrible. We have had rationally no rain, the rainy season is just approaching now and will continue through June July and August. It rains every day I am told and then no more rain until next June. During the dry season Peking has had dust storms. The dust comes in from the desert and is so dense that it hides the sun. We have had exceptionally few this year, however.

I have never in all my life seen such flowers as we have here. Forst he had lilies, locusts, wisteria, and now the most gorgeous roses. Every one has quantities of flowers, they are so inexpensive. One can buy a most exquisite, blooming rose tree, just a good size for one's room for twenty coppers. The Chinese love for the garden and building.

Some of you have asked about our food. We at the Language School in fact all foreigners eat foreign food which is not so different from what we have at home, except that all the water and milk has been boiled, and we eat no uncooked food of any kind without special preparation. For example, just now we are having such good strawberries, but they are treated with a lime solution before we eat them. Of course we have many new vegetables such as bamboo water chestnuts, and many kind of greens whose names I do not know. The Chinese food is another question. Any of you who have been at Chop Suey houses and congratulated yourself that you had eaten Chinese food, may as well change your mind. I never in my imagination approached the conception of Chinese food. It is made differently flavored and seasoned differently, and in fact I am sure you could not recognize one single dish were you blind folded. Unfortunately I do not relish much of it, but I hope to learn to eat it soon, for it is absolutely necessary for us to be able to eat it not only with grace (using chop sticks) but with real appreciation.

At present my work is chiefly language study. Besides this, I have a class of Chinese girl (who are studying to be doctors) from Peking University. We are studying Biology in English and it is very interesting. I also have charge of a corps of girls Reserves. These girls are all Americans being daughters of Legation men, business men or missionaries. Naturally we are not worth much here until we get a speaking knowledge of the language and to this end we are giving the greater part of our energy. I do not know, yet, in which part of China I shall be stationed. There is a great unanswered need every place. It is simply a question of which place seems to need girls work most, just now.

During our Spring vacation some of us went to the Western Hills. A beautiful range rising abruptly for two and three thousand feet. They are sixteen miles west of Peking, which distance we covered in rickshas. As we rode thru the country we saw many rice fields, many truck gardens, and fields of young grain dotted with graves. China is one huge cemetery. The graves of their ancestors are all carefully preserved, and since China is such an old nation, and so thickly populated, this project occupies no small amount of territory. We passed thru little villages, where we were watched with curiosity. We saw the small grist mills where rolling stones crushed the grain into flour. As we approached the Hills, we could see the temples and pagodas, with which they are dotted. It was a beautiful trip. We were most impressed as we reached the place where we were to stay, an old Buddhist temple grounds which had been falling into ruin. This was leased for ninety nine years by the Y. M. C. A. They restored it, employed a caretaker who was an excellent cook and use it for a conference grounds. The four central buildings were reserved, however and are still used for Buddhist worship. There are six priests there who keep the temple bell sounding, and who chant daily as they burn incense to the Gods. Besides this section used for worship, there is room to accommodate about two hun-ded students. At the time when we went however, there was only our small party of eight folk there. Now let me try to give you a picture of the grounds. It is nestled in a U-shaped valley, surrounded by hills on three sides. The grounds are filled with gorgeous old cedars and pines and fruit trees. As you enter you pass through an avenue bordered on either side by ancient Hemlocks, soon you come to an exquisite gate (tile). This gate has the characteristic dragon designs, the predominant color is yellow. Thru it you can see a beautiful marble arched bridge over a little artificial pond. All the buildings are of Chinese architecture with dainty curved roofs. We were given our abode in a little building, high up among the rocks. In former days it was used as a royal guest room, as it has gold roof. We could get a wonderful view of the surrounding country. Each day we took a trip out into the hills sometimes in search of a temple, sometimes for the joy of climbing. The hills are used for terraced farming as well as for grazing. We could see shepherds with their flocks, and farmers tilling the soil by means of a wooden plow and ox team. I won't attempt to describe the wonderful carved marble pagodas and temples which we saw, you must come and see them for yourselves, words fail. Besides these trips one of the greatest pleasures for us was our contact with the friendly country folk. Whenever we would stop for lunch, they would gather about us and watch us with great interest, inquiring as to our nationality, age and family history. It was such fun to practice our Chinese.

Not long ago the president of China gave the Language School students an audience. We were very happy to be able to see all of this innermost part of the Forbidden City. The palace is on an island, therefore it was necessary for us to cross it in boats. There were five royal barges, beautifully decorated, used for this purpose. It was indeed quite thrilling as you pictured the royalty of centuries going over the water in the very boat in which you were riding. After reaching the island we walked thru the beautiful gardens, under wisteria arbors, thru deep dark, rock gardens, into caves and thru passages damp and cold. We saw a huge building guarded by two old, blue, cloisonne lions, in front of which was a gorgeous carved marble dragon screen. This was the audience chamber. We entered, were met by six or eight foreign dressed Chinese who announced our arrival and asked us to wait. We formed a semi-circle and stood ready. Soon the body guard, then the president arrived. He removed his glasses and bowed low, we did the same (the removal of glasses is a sign of respect) only we bowed three times. Then he spoke a few words to which one of our party responded. He then bowed again and retired. We were served with tea, most delicious cakes and drinks were used. After this we went through the buildings. They were most beautiful. In China architects are not employed to plan buildings, but the officials themselves form the plans, which are executed by the workmen. Here art is lived for art's sake, and no man is thought to be less a man if he happens to be artistic. We saw the most gorgeous embroideries and carvings, but here again words fail. One of the most important events of the year, however, was the marriage of one of our Language School teachers. Since both the bride and groom were Christians, she a Christian in the Presbyterian Mission, they wanted a Christian service. The mothers were old, however, and preferred the old custom. This difficulty was met by having both. We dressed in our best and reached the home of the groom about 11 o'clock. All Chinese weddings take place at the home of the groom. The groom meets all the expenses, including the bride's clothes, the sedan chair, made of beautiful embroidered red satin, in which the bride is carried thru the streets to her future home (she always lives in the home of her husband, and becomes not only his slave, but also the slave of his mother's feast and decorations. Since the expense is necessarily so great, it is the custom for each guest to take a gift of money in a red envelope on which is written words of congratulations and best wishes. As we entered the house we were met by the groom. We removed our glasses and bowed low three times, reciting our words of greeting which we had so carefully learned, and then we bowed once more, placing our precious red envelope in his hand. We were then escorted into the room in which his mother was seated, and there we went thru the same bowing and reciting of congratulations thru which we had just passed. From here we were taken into the "new room." This room was new in every detail from the paper on the wall to the two little mugs each containing a tooth brush. It was supposed to please the bride greatly. It contained all of her gifts, such as wooden chests, glass cases of flowers, boxes of jewels, bright colored handkerchiefs and hose, china, a mirror, many beautiful scrolls, etc. After this we took our seats at the feast, and such a feast. We had more than thirty different dishes. We ate for a long time as you can well imagine. When finished we took our places at the side of the court which had been enclosed with matting to make a space large enough for so many people. Soon we heard the sound of the wedding music, the groom was escorted into the "new room" by the best man, there to wait for his bride. How we thrilled with excitement as the gorgeous chair was carried in, thru the court up to the very door of her room. Here the groom opened the chair, helped the bride out, and lifted her veil, and looked upon her supposedly for the first time. (There is no such thing as courtship in China. Usually people are engaged by their parents when they are mere children. They may not know of it until the day of their wedding.) This composed the Chinese wedding, except for the worship of the ancestral tablets, which these christian young people omitted.

Now at this point, the groom came out into the main room where he took his place ready for the christian service. A foreigner played the wedding march on a baby organ. The bride came escorted by her four bridesmaids. They were beautiful. All dressed in the dainty, yet gorgeous chinese silks. The bride was dressed in a pale pink, with slippers, hose and gloves to match. The bridesmaids were dressed in light soft shades of green, blue, lavender and blue. The service was beautiful, but, true to oriental style, the populace was not kept back, and soon the door ways and for several feet into the room, were filled with street folk and beggars. It was such an interesting mixture of East and West.

But the whole thing was significant of a great change. We saw before us the nucleus of a christian home with unlimited possibilities for service. This all sounds very simple to all of you, but if you could know of one-half of the suffering through which these young folks are compelled to go, because of their big step ahead of the past customs, if you could know of the taunting, the ridicule and the real abuse that they are daily called upon to endure, you would realize that China is carrying her share of the price paid for a New China.

There are other signs of great advancement. In a city like Peking we see very very few children with bound feet. We see young women entering the university, we see them entering into athletics, we see them going out as teachers and leaders. We see strong christian young men as leaders in politics, and national affairs. China is pulling against the weight of centuries of well formed customs, but she is pulling.

It is wonderful to live right in the very stream of adventures of new experiences, of new thoughts, I love it here. I only wish I could have you here with me instead of having to depend upon a pen, to have you see what I have seen. Certainly I am happy in this age of service when folks are trying to find the work for which they are fitted, it is truly a privilege to find ones self in the midst of such an interesting people, with such a task.

Please remember that I am thinking of you often, and that I would be delighted to hear from you, although I can make no big promises about prompt answers. I wish for you the best of success in your work.

Sincerely,
ERMA A. FORBES.

Celina.—While appraisers were listing cans of peaches, tomatoes, etc., in the store of Dennis Dixon, deceased, they found two peach cans on the shelf, containing in gold, bills and securities, a total of $53,000. Dixon was a bachelor, never was known to issue a check and paid for everything in cash. Relatives had no idea of the amount of his estate.

Puts Roumanian Under Peace Bond

Charles Popp was fined $5 and costs by Justice Martin Gannon Saturday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery and placed under peace bonds amounting to $300. The complaint was made by Nick Lazaar, whom Popp assaulted Friday evening about 7 o'clock in the road near the hotel on the property of the Sandusky cement company. Superintendent W. E. Wuerth was the complainant in the peace bond action. Popp is said to have made repeated threats that he meant to kill several of his Roumanian countrymen employed at the cement plant and was feared by them because of his threats and actions.

MRS. WM. P. SMITH, of Los Angeles, Calif., who says Tanlac completely restored her health when no one believed she would ever be well again. Has gained thirteen pounds.

"I will never stop praising Tanlac, for it has restored my health when everyone who knows of my dreadful condition had no idea I would ever get well."

"Two years ago, following an accident, I began suffering from indigestion and severe stomach trouble. I grew worse so rapidly that my health soon became perfectly wretched. My stomach became so weak I couldn't eat the simplest food or even drink a glass of milk without suffering for hours afterward. I was extremely nervous, and would have palpitation of the heart so badly at times I would almost faint. My circulation was very poor, I had no color and weighed only eighty-one pounds. It seemed I was just gradually starving by degrees, and I had almost given up hope."

"After the best medical treatment failed to help me, travel and a change of surroundings was advised, so I traveled nearly all over the United States and had treatment every place I went, but always with the same disappointing results. How I stood my suffering is more than I can tell, and I became so despondent that life seemed hardly worth living."

"That is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac. When my husband first suggested Tanlac I told him I had no faith in it, but the next day he bought me a bottle, and to my great surprise it seemed to agree with me, so I kept on taking it. The results speak for themselves."

"I have gained thirteen pounds in weight, and I feel perfectly well in every way. My appetite is splendid and I eat just everything I want and never have the slightest symptoms of indigestion. I am so happy over the recovery of my health that I feel just like telling everybody about this wonderful medicine."

The above remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. William P. Smith, a well known and highly respected resident of Los Angeles, Calif., special resident of Los Angeles, Calif., residing at 139 East Avenue 36.

Tanlac is for sale in Dixon by the Public Drug and Book Co., and by the leading druggists in every town.

NO BARREL!—CHARACTER, Personality and admitted ability pitted against slush funds. I have delivered my message to over 75,000 men and women of Illinois in public speeches in this campaign. You'll hear from them and others on Primary Day.

Don't let the Chicago Tribune kid you—they don't own Illinois, nor yet think for Illinoisans. The race is between Carlstrom and Small. Give a man of the Common People, with limited means, a chance in Illinois once more—
Vote for CARLSTROM

Let the politicians take their dirty, mudslinging fight into the back yard and scrap it out where it belongs, while we nominate Carlstrom, whom all Republicans can support in November.

Oglesby has no family, but has a large estate by inheritance. Did he leave his $2,500 job and go into the Army? NO! Carlstrom holds two honorable discharges from the U. S. Army. If you believe in recognizing the Service Man—

BROWNS TRIMMED IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAME AT DEKALB SUNDAY

Blenner's Wildness Got His in Bad Early in Contest.

If the championship of northern Illinois was at stake at Pershing park in DeKalb yesterday afternoon, the team from that city galloped away with the honors and had plenty of room to spare. The Dixon Browns went down in defeat by a score of 13 to 8. Glenn, who pitched for DeKalb, appeared in his fourth game during the week, winning all four and yesterday fanned an even dozen of the locals.

Pearly Blenner, a south paw spit ball twirler, who was reported to have done great things in years past as a member of Three I League teams, did the twirling for the Browns. In the first inning he got away bad, walking the first three men who faced him, hitting one, being bumped for a single and a double and a triple which netted the victory six runs to start off with.

The Browns solved Glenn's delivery early in the game and kept him working at his best. The locals outplayed the DeKalb team but were unfortunate in the long lead that DeKalb secured in the start. Blenner found the plate after the first round and went along well until the sixth, when the DeKalb players renewed their batting rally and seven more runs were added in the last three innings.

The Browns will meet Rochelle here next Sunday and Sterling a week later. A team composed of barnstormers from the Pittsburgh national league club are trying to book a game with the Browns to close the season here.

EFFICIENCY

Has been the keynote of the Administration of

Secretary of State

During this Administration

Fees collected by the Secretary of State and paid into the State Treasury have increased 400 per cent. Fees from automobile licenses have increased approximately 500 per cent, all of this money going into the State Good Roads Fund. The corporation laws have been recodified, and provision made for a corporation tax which will bring millions into the treasury annually.

Every department of this important branch of the State Government has been administered with as careful attention to detail as though it were a private business.

Bone Dry Canada Soon, Is Warning

(N. E. A. Staff Special.)

Winnipeg, Canada.—Canada is about to cease being bartender for her American cousins.

Since the great drought enveloped the United States, Canada has been the Mecca of the thirsty. It is here they have come singly, in pairs, in parties and in conventions. Rum runners have been busy conveying the precious juices of pleasure from partially-wet Canada to reasonably-dry United States.

In Fact Also.

Now Canada, in the law books as dry, is about to become so in fact.

When the votes are counted during the provincial elections in the next few months, prophet says there's not much doubt but what a majority will declare for the referendum going away with inter-provincial liquor traffic.

With the exception of Quebec, where beer and light wines may be retailed, no liquor can be sold legally in any Canadian province. But, since this dryness is all in the local option form and since under the law a province cannot restrict dominion commerce, Canadians have been able to obtain

SAVE YOUR TOP SILAGE

The Value in Dollars of the Top Silage You Have to Throw Away in One Year Will Buy

Flint's Perfeto SILO SEAL

Which is Guaranteed to Stop Silage Losses

Needed as much as the lid on a fruit jar or the cork in a bottle. Without this Seal you suffer most disgusting losses in Silage caused by mould and decay. The saving of one year will pay for this Seal—and it will last ten years.

"SAVES EVERY INCH"

Flint's Perfect Silo Seal is the one only sure way to stop Silage poisoning from mould and decay. It is air-tight and forces the air out of the upper Silage—packs thoroughly and evenly and cures the top Silage as perfectly as the bottom. "Makes the top cure and keeps it pure."

SOLD ON YEAR'S TRIAL

Flint's Perfect Silo Seal guaranteed to do all that we claim or your money back after one year's trial. It is guaranteed air-tight, proof against water, acids and weather. Made for any Silo. Investigate this remarkable Seal. Write me for descriptive circular or for a personal demonstration. Write today and avoid the late season rush.

at the liquor they desired by buying it outside the province and having it shipped to them.

To End Farce.

That made local option a farce and now, say those who should know, Canada is about to end the farce and enter the bone-dry list.

It is an ancient maxim, endorsed by wets and dries alike, that where there's liquor there liquor will be sold. That's the case in Canada today. There's always a willing bell boy or a waiter with a desire to please and there's more blind swine than there are pigs with natural parents.

Hotels and railways have enjoyed a rushing tourist trade, and it is said that hardly a man crosses the line to the United States who isn't wiping his mouth with the back of his hand and whose baggage doesn't have to be searched with care.

All Over Soon.

But it's to be over soon. By early fall Canadian provinces will have ratified the referendum. It is said, and the Manitoba government is pledged to abolish the "buy it outside and ship it in" traffic if the referendum carries. So it looks like a long, long dry spell.

EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

EDWARD E. WINGERT

Republican Candidate for States Attorney, at Primary September 15.

The State's Attorney is the legal protector of the people and their property, and their efficient defense was never more needed than now in this age of unrest, when grave crimes are increasing rapidly.

He is also the attorney for the County, a corporation of nearly 30,000 people, in its complex business affairs.

Whatever else the State's Attorney may be HE MUST BE A TRIAL LAWYER of demonstrated capacity. This capacity can only be shown by years of experience. The office, paying $2900 a year should be no field for experiment.

I have, in 31 years at the bar, tried many hundreds of cases, and in all the counties of the Circuit. This experience has not been limited to one sort, but has covered all kinds, criminal as well as civil. It is conceded that I can try suits successfully and without aid, and if elected I agree to ask no help from the County Board.

Where consulted in advance no client has ever lost money by relying on my advice.

I have never asked for or held any elective office, and do not believe that holding many offices justifies the holder to have others. I want this for one term only, and then another may have a chance.

Both men and women may vote at this primary and the support of all will be appreciated.
